

The Howard Union.

Francis M. Taylor, Editor and Proprietor.
Glasgow, Mo.

THURSDAY, NOV. 23, 1865.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—We are gratified to note that a project is on hand among some of our citizens to form a Library Association for their mutual benefit and improvement. Any one by paying an admission fee of three dollars, will be entitled to membership, and the free use of the books belonging to the Association. In this way a valuable library may be accumulated, and many valuable hours profitably improved. We hope the enterprise will be encouraged by our public spirited citizens. Almost all large towns and cities have their public libraries, which are highly esteemed and prized by those desirous of cultivating their minds. Let us have a City Library in Glasgow. Books for Membership will be found at the store of PALMER & CO.

The Macon Times, of the 18th inst., has the following account of some proceedings that occurred in that county:

HOARD THIEVES—THREE MEN SHOT.—Two horse-thieves from Iowa were pursued to near La Plata, in this county, where they were overhauled. The two pursuers got a gentleman by the name of Wheeler, living in the neighborhood, to assist them. The thieves resisted, and a battle was the result. All three of the party in pursuit were shot, two of them thought to be dangerously wounded. One of the thieves was caught and killed; the other made his escape, but was wounded. It was thought.

The man killed said his name was Marion Wright, and that his partner's name was Lowe, that they both lived in Charleston or Saline county.

On Monday last Lowe was arrested at the ferry in this place, by one of our citizens, who knew him, on the strength of the above account. We learn he had on Wright's pistol at the time, and that he told conflicting stories of his whereabouts for the last few days. A telegram was sent to Macon that night for information, but next morning when an answer was expected, the wire was out of order. We understand he will be taken to Macon, where his innocence or guilt may be established.

P. S.—We learn that Lowe yesterday, under the impression that it would result to his advantage, made a confession, in which he acknowledged being in the shooting scrape above alluded to, and that he had been engaged in several horse-thieving operations. He says there were four horse thieves in the gang, and gave the names of several confederates living in different parts of the State.

DEATH OF LORD PALMERSTON.—Lord Palmerston died recently from the effects of a cold, on the 18th of October, wanting two days of being 85 years old. Business in London was suspended, and almost universal regret was expressed by all parties at his loss. Earl Russell will probably succeed, Lord Clarendon taking the Foreign Office. The great Premier of England spent 50 years of his eventful life in guiding the English ship of State. He was able and successful, a statesman of the first order.

CONFISCATED PROPERTY IN VIRGINIA.—Within the last few days property of great value in Loudon county, Virginia, which had been labelled and condemned under the confiscation act, and set apart for the use of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands, has been released by the Bureau, and the orders restoring it to the owners have been delivered.

TOWN PROPERTY FOR SALE.—See advertisement of Mr. English in another column. The residence he offers for sale is a very desirable one, and those wishing to purchase should not let the present opportunity slip.

The immense iron front block, corner of South Water and Wells street, Chicago, is now being raised. It is four stories high and eighty by one hundred and fifty feet front, filled with heavy merchandise. There are 1,580 screws and the building and contents weigh 27,000 tons.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—The body of Capt. Wirz was directed by the President to be interred in the Penitentiary yard arsenal ground, where Payne and others were buried. Wirz's grave the southern one of a row of five in the following order: Mrs. Surratt, Payne, Harold, Atzerott, Wirz.

The number of desperadoes and thieves have increased to such an extent in St. Louis, that Vigilance Committees are talked of to remedy the evil,—the police force being inadequate.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Judge Underwood has condemned Gov. Wise's personal property for confiscation. His real estate is not worth the formality.

It is said that the President, on Monday, informed an ex-Confederate general that it is not his present intention to pardon any more civil or military leaders of the rebellion.

The President assures the friends of the Louisiana freedmen that he has no intention of leaving those unfortunate to the tender mercies of "copperhead civil authorities and galvanized rebels." The military power will not be withdrawn until the safe time comes.

Twenty-four States have ratified the anti-slavery amendment to the Constitution. New Jersey will make the twenty-fifth; and in January, California and Oregon will complete the requisite number of twenty-seven.

The following is the number of persons which the largest churches in Europe will contain: St. Peter's, 54,000; cathedral at Milan, 37,000; St. Paul's, at London, 25,000; St. Sophia, at Constantinople, 23,000; Notre Dame de Paris, 21,000; cathedral of Pisa, 13,000; St. Mark, at Venice, 7,000.

Gen. Ingraham, late Provost Marshall of the defenses of the North Potomac, is being vigorously urged for Sergeant-at-Arms of the next House.

The desperadoes are still at work in Platte county. A squad of them made a raid into Platte City, a few nights ago, and robbed several stores.

Mrs. Ann Gentry, who has held the office of Post-mistress at Columbia for the last twenty-seven and a half years, resigned the office a short time since, and Dr. Paul Hubbard has been appointed in her place.

The Gazette, published at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, claims to be the oldest paper in America. It is now in its 100th year—having been established October 7th 1736.

SPIRITUAL FACTS.—That whiskey is the key by which many gain an entrance into our prisons and almshouses.

That wine brands the nose of all those who cannot govern their appetites.

That wine causes many to take a winding way home.

That ale causes many ailments; while beer brings many to the bar.

That Champagne is the cause of many real pains.

That gin-slings have "slewed" more than the slings of old.

The following communication from the Governor was laid before the Senate:

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES.
City of Jefferson, Nov. 15, 1865.

Sensors and representatives:
I have the honor herewith to transmit a communication signed by Robt. P. Faulkner, John T. Bruck and E. J. Evans, a committee in behalf of the citizens of Rolla. From this and other reliable information I am satisfied that bands of desperadoes are infesting the counties south and west of Rolla, all of whom are rebel outlaws who have never surrendered to the authorities of the United States, and are now banded together under the lead of James Pickett, Joseph F. Gifford, Parker, Summers, Dick Watson, Gibbon Martin, Josiah Westlake, Thomas S. Yates, Peter Sanders, Ishmael Copeland, Joseph Ashley, Dick Kitchen, Keely, Peter Smith, Anthony Wright, Archie Allen, F. M. Chambers, John S. King, Wm. Ball, Riley Huddleston, Mari-an Huddleston, Josiah B. G. and Skyes, for purposes of robbery and murder.

The civil authorities in the sparsely settled counties in the southern border of the State are not able to subdue this organized banditti. I respectfully ask the General Assembly to authorize me to offer suitable rewards for the leaders of the band referred to, and to make an appropriation for that purpose, and likewise to make an appropriation, subject to my order as Commander-in-Chief of the Militia of the State, which will enable me to put in good repair the arms of the State, and to sub-ist and put such militia forces as it may be necessary to call into active service from time to time for the protection of the people of the border counties and the extermination of robbers and outlaws.

I avail myself of this occasion to call the attention of the General Assembly to the fact that the State Treasurer reports to me that he has received from the United States, through the efforts of Col. Chas. E. Moss, Swamp Land Agent, the sum of $5,223 on account of the road and canal fund. I respectfully recommend that this sum be credited to the State interest fund, the amount being so small that it will make very unimportant dividends to the counties. Respectfully,
THOS. C. FLETCHER.

New York, Nov. 16.
The grand parade of the Metropolitan police took place this p. m. They marched up Broadway, stopping at the City Hall, where they were received by Mayors Gunther and Wood, the Common Council, the Supervisors of the county of New York, and others. The column numbered about 1,300 men.

A Birmingham physiologist, one Dr. Bennett has started the theory that there are six senses instead of five. "If," says the Doctor, "two cubes, gilded over to look alike and made of the same temperature—the one of lead, the other wood—be laid before a man, none of his five senses will tell him which is lead. He must feel their weight; and it seems as if physiologists would have eventually to agree to call this the sense of weight, the sixth sense."

Warlike Reports from New Orleans.

New York, Nov. 16.—The New Orleans Delta, of Nov. 5th, states that there is unusual activity among military circles in that city since the reception of recent dispatches from the Rio Grande. Mysterious orders have been issued. The sale of boats is prohibited, and those on hand are being placed on a war footing. The sale of all transportation and supplies has ceased. The 1st, 4th and 6th regiments of regular cavalry have been ordered to embark for Louisiana, Texas, and report for duty at San Antonio, to Gen. Merrill. The dismounted colored cavalry at New Orleans is destined for the same place. Gen. Forsyth, Gen. Sheridan's Chief of Staff, has gone to Brazos.

A Wonderful Invention—The Age of Steam Revolutionized.

A brief announcement in these columns in the latter part of July, mentioned the invention of a new steam motor that bid fair to upset all preconceived notions of the dangers of steam—doing away with explosions, for there would be no boilers to explode. We were then in ignorance of the principle, knew nothing of the inventor and his success, and yet were startled by the simple fact that such a principle had been born into the world.

The invention was then perfect, and yet a knowledge of its working and advantages was withheld from the public until certain patents upon the vital principle of the machine could be secured. That period has now arrived, and after an examination into its merits we are prepared to admit that it is its importance and simplicity it is the wonder of the age.

Let the reader imagine a hollow iron sphere two and a half inches thick, and having a diameter of thirty by twenty-two inches—flattened at the top and bottom for convenience in putting it into its place over a small stove or grate. Inside of this globe, which is not much larger than a flobber, dinner pot, is a common three quarter inch gas pipe running to within a few inches of the bottom and terminating in a small ball or sprinkler, perforated with forty diminutive holes. The fire is built under the globe, and in the sprinkler is a tablespoonful of water. Now, most people would suppose that in order to generate steam all that would be necessary is to discharge the water in the pipe against the hot iron. Not so.

The air in the sphere is at a temperature of from 500 to 600 degrees by Fahrenheit's thermometer. The water in the sprinkler is hot, and the sprinkler soon becomes surrounded by a superheated vapor, into which the water is spurted, becoming heated steam before it can reach the surrounding sphere. This spouting or ejection of water from the pipe is repeated as soon as a revolution of the engine attached has assumed the steam just made, and the engine itself—a five horse power, with a cylinder of five inches bore and a piston eight inches long—is propelled with the force of an engine of fifteen horse power, with a pressure of 130 pounds, running two corn mills, and turning out fuel at the rate of forty bushels an hour. Show us anything like that in mechanics before this invention!

There is actually no danger, for there is no boiler, and only a cupful of water water, and the steam generated passes instantly into the steam chest of the engine, does its work, and exhausts itself in the outer atmosphere.

Ordinary locomotive boilers are usually subjected to a pressure of 105 pounds to the square inch, having a thermometer heat of 331 degrees, Fahrenheit! The thickness of the iron globe in this invention, all other things considered, will bear a pressure of five hundred pounds to the square inch; and a heat, as before stated, of about five hundred or six hundred degrees.

An estimate, considered moderate, contemplates the saving of forty per cent. in fuel over the ordinary mode of generating steam. Objections have been raised that the iron globe, or steam generator, cannot be durable. It is estimated on a scientific basis, that it will last quite as long as the common boiler.

It works well, noiselessly and rapidly, the steam generated by this method, having an elasticity not attained by any other process. The inventor is Mr. Ebenezer Danforth of Geneva, Illinois, but the invention is now in the hands of a corporate company, of which Mr. Horatio Allen, President of the celebrated "Novelty Works" of New York is at the head. Its capital is $2,100,000, and it works upon its interest in both foreign and home patents.

One of these machines is in full operation at No. 90 West lake street, and if the proprietors will permit the public to see it, it will be universally admitted as the most important invention since the days of Watt. [Chicago Journal.]

William B. Astor.

No bank clerk on the salary of a thousand dollars a year goes to his bank as regularly, or works as many hours, as William B. Astor, who counts up his forty millions. His little one story office, a step or two from Broadway on Prince Street, with its iron bars, making it resemble a police prison, is the den where he performs his daily toil, and out of all his wealth and labor gets only "this virtuals and clothes." He attends personally to all his business, knows every dollar of rent or income that is to become due, pays out every dollar, makes his entries in his own hand, obliges his subordinates to come to him for information while he does not go to them. He generally comes down in the omnibus at an early hour of the day, remains closely absorbed in business until five o'clock. He rarely takes exercise, and finds his pleasure in the closest attention to his business. A friend of mine rode to Washington with him in the same car from New York. He neither spoke nor got out of his seat, and hardly moved, from Jersey City to Washington. He usually leaves his office at five o'clock and walks slowly up Broadway to Lafayette Place. He is over six feet high, heavy built, with a decided German look, small hazel eyes, as if he were half asleep. Round as a pumpkin and about as destitute of hair. He is exceedingly hospitable, and in the "season" gives a dinner to his friends weekly, at which the richest viands on service of gold and silver are presented by liveried servants to his guests.

A FAILURE AND HOW IT MAY BE TURNED TO ACCOUNT.—The Fenian movement is manifestly a failure. If there was a conspiracy to get up an insurrection in Ireland, it was nipped in the bud. If there was a purpose of taking possession of Canada, in the name of the Irish Republic, its success is an impossibility, and the plot will fade like a dream. If there was a hope that the United States might be involved in a war with England and conquer Ireland, bringing the Green Isle into the American Union as a sovereign State, or acceptable territory, it was an absurdity, and if it has not already perished, must do so speedily.

We learn that a private letter has been received in this place from Jefferson City stating that Mr. Hume has succeeded in selling the bonds of the North Missouri Railroad Company, at 95 cents on the dollar, but that certain conditions are imposed upon the company by the sale, which it will have to accept before the sale can be fully matured. Should the Board of Directors accept these conditions, the work of the main line and West Branch will be commenced at once. [Huntsville Citizen.]

MARRIED.

Near this place, on Thursday evening last, 16th inst., by Rev. J. OSWELL SWINNEY, Mr. G. B. HARRISON to Miss LOU ANN, daughter of Mr. E. BRUCE, Esq., all of this vicinity. "Oh! married love—each heart shall own, Where two congenial souls unite, Thy golden chains shall bind with down, Thy lamp with heaven's own splendor bright."
